CHICAGO PACKER INVITES PROSECUTION ON TESTIMONY BEFORE SENATE.

HENEY-VEEDER CLASH

Alleged Methods Used by Federal Trade Commission Subject of Controversy.

Washington, Jan. 30.—After hearing the testimony of the five leading meat packers on the charge of the federal trade commission that they had combined to control meat prices, members of the house interstate commerce committee today refused to agree to demand of the trade commission that it submit names of witnesses upon whose statements its charges of collusion had been based.

Representative Decker of Missouri made a motion that the commission be asked to submit the names of witnesses upon whose statements its charges of collusion had been based. The motion was postponed.

Washington, Jan. 30.—Louis F. Swift, president of Swift and company, formally waived before the senate committee the right to any immunity from prosecution which might be acquired through his testimony in the committee's hearings on legislation to regulate the meat industry.

Senator Gore of Oklahoma objected to Mr. Swift testifying in regard to the abandonment of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad port worth stockyards.

Mr. Swift said he would not have immunity, senator Gore said.

Senator Norris of Nebraska said the witness had not been subpoenaed and was not under oath and consequently could not be sworn to.

Mr. Swift, however, said he would neither waive nor claim immunity or answer legal questions without the advice of counsel.

"Was your idea in testifying here, or in offering to testify in the federal trade commission's investigation to gain immunity?" asked Mr. Henev.

"No sir," replied Mr. Swift. He added that he would not discuss his legal reports but desired "to continue his testimony just as if the question had not arisen."

"But the courts may give you immunity unless you specifically agree not to accept it," said Mr. Henev.

A sharp clash between Francis J. Heney and Henry Veeder, counsel for Swift and company, over methods used by the federal trade commission in its recent investigation of the meat packing industry took place at the hearing on the bill to regulate the industry.

Mr. Heney asked Mr. Swift if his company had made application for a public hearing during that inquiry, declaring he resented charges made by the five big packers that the commission's investigation and report were unfair.

"I want to see how fairly you treated the federal trade commission and its attorney," said Mr. Heney.

"You mean with your friend, Edward H. Hurley?" queried Mr. Heney.

"And Mr. Davis and others," was the reply.

Heney Makes Accusation.

"You did more to obstruct the investigation than any other man," said Mr. Heney, "and you desired by the use of the unlimited money of the five big packers to drag out the proceedings until our money had all been spent."

"Just a minute Mr. Heney," interjected Mr. Veeder, "you prevented us from cross-examining your witnesses."

Senator Gore stopped the exchange. He asked Mr. Swift what the late George L. McCarthy, general manager of the National Provisioner, did for the packers in return for the $5,000 yearly fee paid him.

"He helped us out on an oleomargarine campaign," said Mr. Swift, who explained that the matter was handled by Mr. Veeder and he was not familiar with the details.

FIRST DAY'S DRIVE FOR NEAR EAST FUNDS NETS TOTAL OF $900

ARMENIAN TAG DAY PLANNED FOR SATURDAY—SIXTY HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS WILL AID.

BLIND SCHOOL LEADS

Subscriptions Average Over One Dollar Per Capita—Business Men Canvass City for Funds.

The total funds collected for Armenian relief in the opening of the city campaign yesterday was $800.65. With several teams of business men canvassing the downtown district, it is expected that Janesville's quota of $1,000 will be reached by Saturday night. No report has been made on the progress of the campaign throughout the city.

The subscription of $230.27 by the Janesville School for the Blind features the start of the drive. This institution, with only 150 members, has given an average of over a dollar apiece, or nearly four times the average of the city.

Business men's teams reported, as follows: Bringer and Livingston, $131.88; Bliss, Paulsen and Great, $127.00; Buss and Fish, $84.50. Seventeen dollars was received by mail.

Tag Day Saturday.

A tag day with sixty members of the high school junior and senior classes is planned for Saturday. The work is in charge of Mrs. Herbert Ford and Mrs. Louis Levy.

A feature of today's campaign was the Armenian display in one of the downtown stores. A poorly dressed peasant girl and her mother are asking aid for their starving ones. Between them, an Armenian woman is carrying a generous subscription to all the city's sufferings.

Morganthau Praises Work.

The splendid work and self sacrifice of the American people in Turkey and Armenia was highly lauded by Henry Morganthau, former United States ambassador to Turkey, at a recent meeting of the American Relief Committee.

Mr. Morganthau, in his official position as representative of the United States government in the Ottoman empire, witnessed the work of the relief workers and their results during his stay in Turkey.

Senator Norris of Nebraska said the witness had not been subpoenaed and was not under oath and consequently could not be sworn to.

PROTECTIVE RAILROAD LAWS URGED

CONTROL BY DIRECTOR GENERAL CALLED SERIOUS MENACE TO COMMERCE.

SCORES U. S. CONTROL

C. E. Elmqvist Testifies Before Interstate Commerce Committee Against Plan for Five-Year Government Control.

Washington, Jan. 30.—Enactment of railroad legislation for the protection of the public before congress adjourns was urged by C. E. Elmqvist, testifying today before the senate interstate commerce committee.

While the army is being demobilized and war industries are returning to a peace basis, Mr. Elmqvist said, the nation's greatest industry, the railroads, remains under the control of one man, and the life of many commercial undertakings is dependent on the will of a single person.

Legislation should be passed at this session of congress, he urged, to prevent the government from taking over the railroads in case of a future war.

Mr. Elmqvist said that the government should not take over the railroads in case of a future war, but that it should have the power to do so.

LABOR SECRETARY URGES LEGISLATION TO PREVENT STRIKES

WILSON SAYS "HYSTERIA" DURING RECONSTRUCTION PERIOD WILL PASS WITHOUT TROUBLE.

262,000 ARE JOBLESS

"Philosophy of Force," Similar to Bolshevism, Must Not Get Foot-hold in United States.

Washington, Jan. 30.—Immediate enactment of legislation to provide "but" employment so as to prevent the "philosophy of force" from getting a hold in this country during the reconstruction period, was today urged by Secretary of Labor Wilson.

Discussing unemployment problems before a joint meeting of the senate and house labor committees, he said there was considerable "hysteria" in the country, but that the problem would be worked out successfully.

He said that although reports to the department showed 262,000 unemployed men at 123 industrial plants, he did not consider the situation alarming.

This condition, the secretary added, however, indicated a trend toward the "philosophy of force" which would be worked out successfully.

ENGLAND PUTS BAN ON U.S. IMPORTS

DRASTIC REGULATIONS COVERING WIDE RANGE HAVE BEEN PROMULGATED.

DECLARES MOVE IS NECESSARY TO PROTECT INDUSTRIES DURING RECONSTRUCTION PERIOD

Washington, Jan. 30.—Drastic import regulations covering a wide range of commodities and effective March 1 have been promulgated by the British government for the protection of its industries during the period of reconstruction.

The restricted list was made public here last night by the war trade board on advice from Consul General Skinner at London.

Commodities not on the list may be imported without special British import licenses until July 1, the announcement said, and restrictions on the quantity of any one class of goods and other articles of a like nature will be removed Feb. 24.

Raw hides of all kinds also will be admitted.

The war trade board's announcement, however, was not to be regarded as of a permanent nature, and that they were necessary in order that Great Britain might bring her own manufacturing industry back to its former level of production.

"For more than four years," said the announcement, "Great Britain has been subjected to the shock and strain of war, which not only required the sacrifice of life and limb and intense human energy, but also necessitated the most stringent economic readjustment and the sacrifice of private business interests."

It is not strange, therefore, that Great Britain should today wish to make every legitimate effort to keep her commercial and economic status from falling into the hands of other nations.

Imported into Great Britain after March 1 without special licenses include:

Minerals (manufactures of), baskets and baskets, balances, scales and weighing machines, cement, cartridges, carbines, vacuum cleaners.

Fire extinguishers, hats and bonnets, lawn mowers, linen yarns and manufactures thereof.

Machine tools, machinery for working in both metal and wood, mats, matting, oilcloth, mops, metal baths.

Furniture and toilet preparations, photographs, stationery, pictures, paints, engravings and photographs, plated and gilt wares.

Revolvers, rifles and pistols, shotguns, knives, cut-throats, snips, spectacles and eyeglasses not containing gold, skins and furs (manufactures of).

Time recording instruments of all kinds and movements and parts thereof.

Wearing apparel, not waterproof, wringers, mangles, and the like, permitted until July 1 are:

Apples and bananas, works of art, carriages and sausage skins, corn, coffee.

Fruits from all sources, canned, bottled or preserved; vegetables, onions, pimientos, rum and molasses.

Sides, wet and dry; ivory, marble, tobacco, unmanufactured and manufactured, including cigars and cigarettes.

Legislation to put real teeth in state blue sky measure.

Washington, Jan. 30.—An effort to put real teeth in the Wisconsin blue sky law was made today by the state legislature.

The measure, which was introduced by Mr. Chilesen of Merrill, who announced that he would offer in the lower house within the next few days a blue sky law which will make it impossible for speculators to foist worthless and fraudulent stocks upon people of the state.

Wisconsin enacted a blue sky law at the 1913 session of the legislature. The measure was greatly amended at the 1915 session and now Gov. Philipp claims that the present law does not adequately protect the public.

A similar law was enacted by the Wisconsin Railroad Commission.

"I think Wisconsin should have a real blue sky law on its statute books," said Assemblyman Chilesen today.

He said that the law which he proposed would give vitality to such a measure and will drive the vendors of worthless and fraudulent stocks out of the state.

PHILIPP REFUSES TO GIVE LEGISLATURE DRAFT BOARDS' PAY

SALARIES OF OFFICIALS FEDERAL RECORDS, WHICH CAN BE DISCLOSED HE TELLS MEMBERS.

STOPS INVESTIGATION

State Body Would Determine Whether There Was Fraud in Disposal of Funds To Board Members.

Madison, Jan. 30.—The Wisconsin legislature will not be given the salaries and amounts paid to the members of the draft board and local draft board of the state.

Gov. Philipp announced tonight that this was a record of the war department which he had no right to disclose. He declared that the draft boards of the state had been efficiently administered and that there was no evidence of fraud.

He pointed out that if the legislature wanted to know the salaries and amounts paid to the members of the draft boards, it must get them from Washington.

He declared that a large percentage of the members served without compensation.

A resolution recently passed by the legislature providing for an investigation of the draft boards in the state, particularly with reference to the amount of compensation that was paid to members, has been blocked by the governor.

Gov. Philipp in discussing the "Perry resolution," today said that members of draft boards received was paid by the U. S. government through General Crowder, who acted for the war department under direction of the President of the United States.

In all cases the payments were small in view of the character of the services rendered. A large percent of the board members accepted service as a patriotic duty and not for money.

It was, however, an element of the time or any considerable part of it, and if no compensation had been paid that class, although patriotic and anxious to serve, would not have been available for the service.

It would not have been right to have selected only such men as could afford to render the service without compensation.

The records which the resolution calls for are the property of the U. S. government and can, therefore, not be delivered to the legislature.

Gov. Philipp said that the records would be made available through the consent of the War Department, where the records properly belong.

Coast artillery on way home; much of 83rd division here.

Washington, Jan. 30.—Three regiments of coast artillery troops are included in army units announced by the War Department today as having been sent home.

The transport Aqueduct, due at Newport News February 4, has the 51st regiment, complete, and the 4th and 5th regiments of the 83rd division.

BARNS FILLED WITH GRAIN AND HAY BURN NEAR EVANSVILLE

Evansville, Wis., Jan. 30.—Fire which started in a henhouse destroyed a number of buildings on the farm owned by the Evansville Canning company, five miles east of this city, yesterday afternoon. The place is occupied by T. H. Taylor.

FURNITURE COMPANY TO OPEN STORE HERE

It was announced this afternoon that the Leath Furniture company will open a store in Janesville about March 1. The quarters formerly occupied by the McKinnon Hardware company, West Milwaukee and Franklin streets, has been leased. Work commenced on the remodeling of the building this afternoon.

The company will occupy the first and second floors and will improve the building to correspond with their stores in Beloit and Rockford. A contractor has arrived in the city and is completing plans for the remodeling of the store. The entire front will be replaced by a more modern and attractive one and the second floor will also be changed to suit the firm's needs.

The Leath Furniture company operates a string of stores in several of the large cities in Illinois, Wisconsin and Iowa. It now has stores in Beloit, Rockford, Elgin, Aurora, Dubuque, Peoria and Waterloo.

LOCAL EPISCOPAL CHURCHES MAY UNITE

Steps Taken to Complete Consolidation of Trinity and Christ Churches—Nolan Introduces Bill in House.

Trinity church and Christ church, the two local Episcopal parishes, are to be consolidated in the near future if plans now on foot materialize. In order to make the consolidation possible, the Rev. John R. Nichols, S. D., introduced a bill in the legislature this morning to authorize the consolidation of two or more incorporated religious societies of the same church, sect, denomination or ecclesiastical connection when the majority of the members of parishes effected approve. At a meeting of the vestries of both local parishes on Sunday it was unanimously agreed to take steps toward the consolidation of the two churches. The act which Mr. Nichols proposes is a general one and not a special bill to permit the local churches to unite. As soon as the bill is passed by the legislature, meetings of the congregation of each parish will be called and votes taken. If the majority of the communicants of each church approve then the consolidation will take place.

Trinity Episcopal church is the older of the two parishes. It was organized as a corporate body June 16, 1847, while Christ church parish was incorporated Sept. 6, 1860.

150 HOLSTEINS ARE SOLD AT EVANSVILLE

Evansville, Jan. 30.—Over 150 head of thoroughbred Holstein cattle changed hands yesterday at a mammoth stock sale in a barn near the Evansville house. T. C. Green, well known breeder of Holsteins, acted as sales manager.

Prices paid for the cattle could not be learned today, but it was reported that some of the Holstein thoroughbreds brought little more than the cost of a good common cow. A large delegation of farmers from towns near Evansville attended the sale.

Deal Consummated Whereby Present Manager Assumes Ownership of Mercantile Business On February 1.

A business transaction of importance is made public today in the statement issued by the Nichols store, that John R. Nichols, the present manager will take entire possession on Saturday of this week.

The history of the Nichols business goes back to 1858, when Mr. John Nichols, who is now retiring from active business, opened his first store in Beloit. From a very humble start, Mr. Nichols built up a very substantial business which he finally sold out, coming to Janesville some fifteen years ago.

JOHN R. NICHOLS.

ago. For 10 years the elder Mr. Nichols operated a store in Madison in conjunction with his Janesville store. During all these years Mr. Nichols has had the entire confidence of everyone with whom he came in contact in business ways and has well deserved the success which he achieved.

The new owner John R. Nichols, has been actively identified with the business as manager for the past 15 years. He states that the business will be continued along the same lines as heretofore with the possible addition of some lines now not featured in the store.

An advertising program in the Gazette has been arranged, in anticipation of the growth of the city and in accordance with the needs of the business, the first piece of copy appearing in another part of this paper today.

SCIENCE MAKES THEM DURABLE

So—These Soles Save You Shoe Money

"I have been wearing my shoes with Neolin Soles nearly a year, and they are apparently in as good condition as when I bought them."—Written August 1918, by W. H. Cooke, Officer, A.E.F., France.

Only Neolin Soles could endure a test like this. That they do so is because of the tough durability built into them by a scientific process. To cut your shoe bills down, buy shoes with these long-wearing soles. They come in many styles for men, women, and children.

Remember—Neolin Soles are flexible and waterproof, too, and are available everywhere for re-soles. They are made by The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., Akron, Ohio, who also make Wingfoot Heels—guaranteed to outwear all other heels.

CAMP GRANT SOLDIERS HURT IN MOTORCYCLE ACCIDENT NEAR AFTON

Yesterday afternoon two Camp Grant soldiers caused considerable excitement on the downtown streets while speeding about on a government motorcycle. They seemed to be enjoying themselves and on one occasion when they stopped they told an inquiring party that they had a funnough road from Camp Grant and were spending it riding through the country.

Later yesterday afternoon they started for Beloit and while speeding along near Afton the machine left the road and the two soldiers were badly injured. They were hurried to Beloit and questioned by the police. It developed that the soldiers have taken French leave and also a motor cycle. They were detained at the Beloit police station and this morning taken back to Camp Grant.

WE WELCOME JANESVILLE TO OUR NEW HOME

Friday Morning, January 31st

We Open our Doors to You. We Invite You to Come in and Become Acquainted With Us

For the past several weeks, carpenters, plumbers and decorators have been busy getting the old Madden & Rae Store, 13 W. Milwaukee St. into condition for our occupancy and now we are ready to invite you in so that we can make Friday a great day on our celandar, a real "Get acquainted" day.

The buying power of two stores, our Madison store being very well established in the Capitol City, enables us to secure merchandise at prices that are extraordinary and also enables us to secure the styles that are always a shade newer than those shown to smaller firms.

The Winter season is not over, and altho' the past two weeks have opened Spring buying to a certain extent, yet we have taken advantage of a slow wholesale market to secure special lots of Winter garments. We offer them to you at real January Sale Prices.

The New Spring Merchandise

Dainty new Dresses, beautiful Coats, Capes and Suits, Handsome Blouses and Chic Millinery—all fresh from the manufacturer's display rooms, are ready for you and we know that you will at least enjoy coming in and trying them on now.

Blouses Galore

Blouses made from dainty, sheer fabrics in lovely styles will be shown.

Such wide selections as we offer are doubly interesting because of the number and variety displayed.

Our Blouse Section will be indeed most interesting.

About the Suits

Spring models will delight the eye; fabrics, styles, tailoring and price are contributing factors of much interest.

The spring models arrive in increasing numbers daily.

A few special lots of winter garments at January Sale Prices.

The store will be in charge of Mr. Henry Solomon

who has been connected with our Madison store, and is well versed on Woman's apparel. We ask you to become acquainted with Mr. Solomon as we feel his advice coupled with your ideas will greatly assist you in finding the garments you have in mind.

THE REAL PROBLEM.

Now that a great deal of conversation and printer's ink has been expended in discussing sites, bond issues
and other phases of the high school question, would it not be the one big problem which must be solved quickly and finally?

We refer to the housing problem.
Janesville needs more homes now.
She will need many more before the year 1919 is ended. Families are coming to the city every day, seeking places in which to live. Just at this time the men who are coming here are those who will hold the executive and office positions with the Samson tractor company and other concerns that already have made plans for expanding their businesses. These men draw salaries which will allow them to buy or rent good homes. They have been accustomed to them and will demand them. Janesville has few suitable places for these people.
Real estate men are unable to fill the demands for such places.

Later when more workmen begin to arrive another class of homes will have to be provided.
The Janesville Housing corporation,
backed by men who have the interests of the community at heart, men who are willing to furnish funds to build homes without profit, is of great returns, are making an effort to raise $300,000 so that the work may be started at once. Many men who are in position to give aid have shown reluctance in joining the movement.

No matter what Janesville will do to provide homes for the workmen to be employed in the Samson tractor
plant, men are going to be imported.
The company has said it will bring men as early as possible to the city and then sit back and wait until Janesville takes her own time to provide homes. If it is shown that the city is unable or unwilling to help in solving this problem, it is to be expected that the company will take the matter into its own hands and build its own homes. Several acres of land have been purchased by the corporation and this can be utilized at any time as home sites for workmen.
If the corporation is forced to go ahead with the matter, we will have two towns instead of one, and the new one will receive the benefits of a weekly payroll larger than Janesville has ever known.

AN AMERICAN POLICY.

Senator Johnson of California sounded the sentiment of Americans everywhere in the United States senate
when he made demand for immediate withdrawal of American troops from Russia. He denounced military activities in Russia as "wicked and useless" and "a criminal policy of intervention which has helped hold the Bolsheviks in power while starving
the Russian people."

He demanded that America have an American policy because it was needed.

In the light of recent developments
it appears that the United States must huckle right down to her own problems. She has been unselfish in giving aid to all who have called upon her. She has untied her purse strings and given gold to those countries which did not know where else to go.
Her food has poured across the ocean
in never ending lines of vessels. Her humanitarian duties have been well performed.

The people of this country have been asked to make sacrifices and have responded with eagerness. They have given with that spirit of generosity which has won the hearts of the individuals in Europe, who are the direct beneficiaries of American aid.
The breach when France, England and Italy were desperate in their attempts to stem the onward rush of the Huns.

America still has a big work to do in Europe. She has 2,000,000 men over there. There are hundreds of thousands of starving people in the countries who must be given immediate relief.

But a line of demarcation must be drawn. The United States in her eagerness to solve world problems,
many of which are not and will never be of great concern to her, must not lose sight of her own position and responsibilities.

American troops should be withdrawn from Russia. It is Europe's problem, not America's.
America should not be compelled to act as foster mother to a group of small nations and colonies under the internationalization plan as advocated by President Wilson. She has enough to do here at home to successfully emerge from the chaos in which she has been cast.

The peace conference which promised solution of world problems through unselfish effort on the part of all nations to bring about a league of nations, is verging on the brink of dissolution. When something definite is accomplished the expected break is discussible on the horizon.

Wilson has been feted, complimented and hailed as a great statesman by our European brothers and sisters, but underlying all the outward show is the spirit of self-protection where the real big problems are concerned.
All nations seem to be looking out for themselves with the exception of the United States.

Perhaps it would be well for President Wilson to remain in France and continue his efforts to put over his 14 points. Something may be gained along that line. But in the meantime the problems of this country should be grasped and solved in a manner which will relieve its citizens from the strain under which they are laboring because of the nation's untimely desire to give help in a humanitarian manner.

Girls, better look sharp! It is reported that 200,000 American soldiers are going to remain in France and take wives and good jobs. Now is a good time to pick out one of those fine, manly fellows who have proved their worth through their devotion to duty. They would make great protectors.

The legislature is working on a marketing bill which promises to be beneficial to consumer, producer and distributor. Here's hoping that the principals do not get into a wrangle
and prevent the passage of some sort of constructive legislation along that line at this session.

Even the most despised snake is going to have a chance. A society in New York will start a campaign of education to create a closer feeling between the public and non-poisonous reptiles that are termed "friends and benefactors of man."

The Wisconsin legislature has gone
on record as favoring six months' extra pay for soldiers, sailors and marines, discharged from service. The state is to be complimented for its stand on this proposition.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

THE SPIRIT OF THE HOUSE

It isn't the chairs and the books and the things,
Or the pictures that hang on the walls,
And it isn't the bird, although gayly
he sings;
It's the laughter that rings in the halls,
It's the smile on the face of the mother at night,
And the joy in the little ones' eyes
And our love for each other with all its delight
That makes up the home that we prize.

The house is just mortar and stone
in itself,
And the fireplace like all of its kind,
There isn't a window or door or a shelf,
But many just like it you'll find.
But the home is endowed with a spirit
And the commonest nook is aglow
With the love and devotion and tenderness which Make sacred the home that we know.

There are many who covet furnishings own,
And many with treasures we miss,
But nowhere for us is such happiness known—
There dwell our contentment and
bliss,
And we envy no mortal his station
or place;
His home with our home can't compare,
For our house is blessed with an infinite grace
And enriched by the spirit that's there.

ON THE SPUR of the MOMENT

ROY E. MOULTON

THE SUBWAY GIRL.
I met her on the subway.
She was stylish and petite
From her fascinating little hat
To her shapely little feet.

Her hair was brightest golden
And her cheeks were softest pink,
But the way she chewed that awful gum.

Would have made a statue blink.
She juggled and she jawed it.
I could never tell you how;
But she might have learned some dainties.

Had she watched the old red cow.

The "Century" tells of one sailor who was washed off the deck of one destroyer and was picked up by a wave and landed on the deck of another ship a half mile astern. When the young man had returned to his own boat the captain said: "Young man, you have used up all the luck
you will have all your life. Harsh words, them. Harsh, but probably true."

Girl Marries Rich Major.
Marquette—Menominee society was surprised by the following announcement: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thyrl Abbot of Crystal Falls, Mich., announce the marriage of their daughter Adelaide to Major William Spencer Carpenter, U. S. A., of Menominee on Jan. 25. The groom is a young Menominee millionaire and a graduate of the Ft. Sheridan Officers' school, winning promotion to rank of major of artillery afterwards.

Man Reported Dead and Alive.
Marquette—Another Marquette man, officially reported dead by the war department, has come to life. Rodney Delgoff, member of Co. G, 127th Infantry, 32nd division, is now reported living by the war department and in France attending a vocational school.
About two months ago he was reported to have died of wounds. Although the official communication gives no details, his relatives fear he had lost his sight because he has been sent to a vocational school.

FORTY YEARS AGO

The Janesville Daily Gazette, Jan.
30, 1879.—Mr. and Mrs. George Barnes gave a pleasant party yesterday to about forty of their friends. The gathering was a happy one, and nothing was lacking to complete the enjoyment of those who were present.

Marshal Keating is still very dangerously ill, but today his condition is slightly improved, which will be gratifying news to his many friends, who have heard rumors that he is much worse.

Tom Austin is now fattening forty head of as fine cattle as ever stored in Rock County soil. Yesterday he purchased of Heimstreet, the druggist, a ton of oil cake for helping along the process.

Brad Putnam is in the city peddling figs. He has been traveling through the state hunting up some boys who had skipped from the Industrial school at Waukesha. He succeeded in capturing them and returning them safely, so that now his father, Captain Putnam, has a clear record, there being no escaped inmates to report during the two years he has had charge of the school. The boys are now pretty well satisfied that it is useless for them to run away.

The opera house was unusually warm when Dillon played here. It appears that when Dillon arrived at the Myers house the other night, he stepped up to Martin Dunn, the clerk,
and after shaking hands and registering said, "Well, poor Pete is dead."
Myers who was sitting by looked up in astonishment, and Martin said,
"Why, no, you're mistaken. Mr. Myers is alive yet." "Oh, no, he ain't," quoth the funny John, "he died a year or more ago. He was found frozen to death in the Myers house." The house was warm that night.

Electric Signs

Promote Prosperity

Now—the war over and won—Uncle Sam wishes to encourage business expansion along normal pre-war
commercial lines, the necessity of which is apparent.
His first step is to abolish "Lightless Nights"—thus enabling everyone again to turn on their Electric Signs.

Help Boom Business-- Light Your Electric Sign

Electric Signs are modern magnets of trade. They provide cheerful, hospitable light that brings crowds and creates business. They invite and actually draw pedestrians to your street and your store.

Brighten Up For the Boys Coming Home

Now—more than ever before—the Nation needs—your store needs—the business-build-stimulus of light.
Help celebrate the world's emancipation from Kaiserism—help keep the home wheels turning—help make jobs for the boys who are coming back—by burning a brilliant, appealing Electric Sign above your door.

"STANDARD BEARERS" ADD RECRUITS IN DAY'S CAMPAIGN

A national rally day by the Methodist church is celebrated this week, to enlist recruits for their young girls' society. "The Standard Bearers," and yesterday was chosen by the local organization as their special day. It was auspiciously begun by a supper served to about 125 young women and girls in the church parlors, the tables being prettily decorated with blue and white.

The ladies of the Foreign Missionary society were the hostesses of the event, and Mrs. Lane, Mrs. Hocking, Mrs. Jacobs and Mrs. Robb were in general charge of the preliminary arrangements. A little good natured rivalry was excited after supper by the line up and roll call of members, as a prize had been offered to the group which should show the largest attendance.

Group No. 1, had 22 members present and eight new members. No. 2, had 26 members, and four new members, and group No. 3 had 14 members and six new members. There was also a large attendance of Juniors as all girls of the church over 14 were invited to the affair.

Group No. 4, had 18 members present and four new members. Mrs. Lane, president of the society, Mrs. Robert Meek, secretary, Miss Grey, treasurer, and Mrs. Charles Beck, treasurer.

After the supper a program was given by the audience, and the girls of the church, with a heart to heart talk given to the girls by Mrs. F. F. Lewis. She reminded them of the mobilized forces in the world, and of the influence of the power of the destinies of mankind. She spoke of the girls who came to have great influence in the world, and especially of Francis Willard, who at one time was a girl of Janesville. She emphasized the power of a high ideal, and the reward of a life of sacrifice and of service.

A piano solo was given by Wilma Flanning, and Mrs. Richards and Miss Spaulding. A duet selection on the organ and piano. Three small plays were given in an informal way, their thought being mostly on missionary lines. One of these, "The Money," was an object lesson in the expense of luxuries. Mrs. Benevise represented Columbia, Gwendolyn Jacobs, Millinery, Lane, Elsie, Grace, Gladys, Townsend, Elsie, Jacobs, Liquor, Lols Atkinson, candy, Ida Hubbard, soda, Ethel Miller, Foreign missions; Elsie, and Miss Spaulding. Mrs. Heenan was the hostess in another sketch which took up some incidents of Japanese life and was called, Mrs. Trevellegge Entertainers.

A piano solo was given at the same time as the poem, "The French Gunner," was read by Mrs. Lewis. Gwendolyn Jacobs was the older girl of the group, and her little sister, Gladys, was the younger. The girls were in the parlors with Dr. Miller in the role of auctioneer, and some games were played by the young people, with Mabel Dunwiddie in charge.

COUNTRY TEACHERS' CONFERENCE FEB. 15

A conference of country teachers will be held in Janesville on February 15. It was announced today by Frank J. Lowth, head of the Rock County Teachers' Training School. Principal Lowth will be in charge of the meeting.

"Warm Lunches in the Country School," "Mistakes a Country Teacher May Make," and "Conducting the School Society," are some of the topics that will be discussed.

The morning session of the conference will start at 10 o'clock, preceded by a social half hour. The afternoon session will last from 1:15 to 3:00 p. m.

Antisdel Urges 100 Per Cent Enrollment in Junior Red Cross

In his weekly letter to all rural schools in the county this week, County Supt. O. D. Antisdel urges Junior Red Cross enrollments. Many schools have already reported complete enrollments. He will gladly furnish plans and enrollment blanks to any school which desires them.

For pupils who are planning to take diploma examinations, Mr. Antisdel is planning to hold them May 28 and 29. Others who are not ready at that time will be allowed to write in the middle of June.

On next Tuesday evening the Janesville police will give their second annual dancing party. Officers Jay Hymer, Alonzo Cain, Charles Handy and Leigh Sherwood will do the honors.

Only two men have asked for a flop at the city hall since last November. Possibly the men have heard of Judge Maxwell's vagrant law in Janesville.

The old familiar habit of panning the team from the big towns was in evidence at the armory last evening. The Lakota Cardinals are rapidly gaining their stride and with Bill Chamberlain and Klein are through. Maybe the city will be chiefless on Saturday.

Keep your seats people. The fire and police commission must act soon. At 12 o'clock tomorrow night, Chiefs Chamberlain and Klein are through. Maybe the city will be chiefless on Saturday.

After juggling jaw-breakers for several minutes the jury in the case of Earl Clark of circuit court, handed out the following list of those who have been granted first papers: Bosch, Frederick, Kostant, Frank Wasky, Frank Bri, Anton, Steve Stankaitus and Orto Samuel Kuffer.

JANESVILLE SOLDIER OFFERED SCHOLARSHIP IN ENGLISH UNIVERSITY

Sergeant Maurice Weirick of the 307th Field Signal battalion in France has been offered the opportunity to take a special course in Oxford or Cambridge universities in England or at some university in France, according to his father, Charles H. Weirick of this city. He will probably take advantage of the opportunity, although definite word to that effect has not been received as yet by his father. The U. S. government is offering the course only to those who are thought well qualified.

The Janesville youth has been top sergeant of his company during several months' service in France. At the time his last letter was written he was stationed in Argillieres, France.

WELL KNOWN TURFMAN IS CALLED BY DEATH

William Buchanan, Famous Clydesdale Horse Salesman, Passed Away Early This Morning.

William Buchanan, Clydesdale horse salesman, well known throughout this section of the country, passed away at 2:30 o'clock this morning at his home, 227 Forest Park boulevard, after an illness of 11 weeks. He was 73 years of age.

A lover of good horses all his life, he took an active interest in his work and gained a wide reputation for his great success. He came to this city from Scotland in 1882 and was general manager of the Clydesdale horse company, the largest importers of horses in the United States, he lived in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, for six years. He came to this city in 1888 and took up his work as salesman for Galbraith brothers, well known horse importers and breeders. He remained active in this business up until 20 years ago when he retired.

Born in Scotland, William Buchanan was born in Glasgow, Scotland, May 22, 1846. For many years he conducted a horse business in this city. The firm is still in existence and is operated under his name. When 42 years of age he came to America and settled in Cedar Rapids, coming to Janesville 30 years ago he has resided here ever since. In 1876 he married Miss Margaret Buchanan in Glasgow.

He was a devout member of the Presbyterian church and a member of the Elks' and Masonic orders. He is survived by two sons, James and Alexander Buchanan, both of Janesville; a brother James, of London, England; a niece, Miss Edna Smith of Farmington, Minn., a nephew, Jas. Selkirk of Des Moines, Ia.; and five grandchildren, Katherine, Jeanie, James, Donald and Mary Buchanan, all of this city.

Funeral Services Saturday. The funeral will be held from the late home 227 Forest Park boulevard Saturday afternoon at two o'clock. The burial will take place in Oak Hill cemetery.

WOMEN ARE INVITED TO COUNCIL OF DEFENSE MEET

A state meeting of the Council of Defense has been called at Madison, for February 4 and 5th. All women who are interested are invited to attend the meetings of the Women's Committee. The question of continuing the organization or demobilizing the committee will be taken up at that time. Mrs. Frank Van Kirk is local chairman of the Rock County committee.

WILL SHOW PICTURES OF MOOSEHEART TODAY

Janesville Lodge No. 197 Loyal Order of Moose have issued an invitation to everybody to attend the motion picture production of Mooseheart at the Majestic theater today. There will be three shows, one at 4:15 o'clock this afternoon and two evening shows at 7:30 and 9 o'clock.

The picture shows the wonderful work being done by the Moose lodge at their home for helpless children located at Mooseheart, Ill. The entire picture was taken at that place and depicts every day life at the institution.

A CORRECTION. In yesterday's issue of The Gazette a typographical error was made in the "Dedrick Bros." advertisement, reading canned tomatoes 24c per can, while it should have read 14c per can, and so this correction is gladly made.

A card party will be given Friday evening, January 31, at St. Mary's hall. Refreshments will be served.

Janesville Soldier Killed In Accident

PRIVATE CHARLES A. LYKE.

Private Charles A. Lyke, well known in this city as being in a railroad accident in Germany, on January 12, according to word received in this city, Private Lyke was with the Army of Occupation at the time of his death. He was killed by a bullet in the chest, while he was working on a railroad near Janesville.

Private Charles A. Lyke is the son of B. C. and Margaret A. Lyke and was born at Portage, Wisconsin, in 1885. He lived most of his life in and near Janesville.

He left this city with a draft contingent for Camp Wadsworth on May 5, 1918. He sailed for France the middle of May. He was in the Pioneer Infantry. On reaching France he saw action in several of the biggest battles, namely: Chateau Thierry, St. Mihiel, and Soissons. He went through the war without receiving a scratch.

When the armistice was signed his regiment was named a unit of the Army of Occupation. He was stationed near Coblenz, while enroute to Brast for his return trip to the United States.

He is survived by his wife, his father, B. C. Lyke, of Milwaukee, and four brothers, John of Janesville; William of Oconomowoc; Robert of La Prairie, and Bert of Avalon, and one aunt, Miss Mary Lyke of this city.

SHERIFF TOLD OF BLOODHOUNDS' USE

Instructions on how to prepare for the use of bloodhounds in tracking criminals have been received by Sheriff Fred Beier from Deputy Sheriff E. H. Geary of Winnebago county, owner of what are known as the Rockford bloodhounds. "Do not spoil the start by allowing people to walk about the place where the dogs are being trained," the instructions say. "Keep it quiet that the bloodhounds are going to be used so that they may not be hindered in their work by a large crowd of people."

"When you plan to use the bloodhounds, call for them immediately, as a delay of a few hours may mean that they may not be able to keep the dogs from running in and out of the camp tracks in spring and fall that were from 35 to 70 hours old. In summer when the ground is hot and dusty they have been successfully tracked from 25 to 35 hours old."

Welcome Committee to Meet Relief and Employment Leaders

The temporary committee to prepare for returning soldiers will meet at the offices of the Chamber of Commerce Friday night at 7:30 p. m. The welcome of discharged army and navy men will be discussed, and plans laid for aiding those who return to the city.

Girls' Community Work Discussed at War Camp Meeting

Discussion of girls' community work and its attendant problems is being held this afternoon at a meeting of the girls' division of the War Camp Community Service. All those interested in plans to enlarge the scope of girls' work here were expected to be present. The meeting is at the offices of the Chamber of Commerce, in charge of Mrs. Abbie Helms.

ATHENA CLASS STUDIES WATER CONSERVATION

A social good time as well as an interesting discussion of problems relating to public welfare, was enjoyed yesterday afternoon by the Athena class at the home of Mrs. Dr. Loomis on Washington street. The president, Mrs. Lowth, presided and the secretary, Mrs. Sowle, was present. The class has been studying the conservation of water and the importance of water in the life of the community. The class is interested in all matters brought up at the board meetings, so Mrs. Helms was asked to outline what had been done at the last meeting in relation to a probation officer.

T. S. Nolan also gave an account of the trip of the ladies this week, to visit the Young Women's League at Beloit. She described the club rooms, the gymnasium, the swimming pool, and the organization, which was told them by some of the Beloit ladies who were hostesses on the occasion.

A study of the problems connected with conservation of water, was presented by Mrs. W. E. Clinton, which brought out the fact that 110 gallons of water per year was allowed for each inhabitant in New York City, but 200 for each in Philadelphia. The fact of the aqueduct being built 200 miles to supply Los Angeles with water, from the mountains was mentioned.

The utilization of water power, and its great usefulness as a source of electrical energy, was dwelt upon, and the fact that the extension of water ways, and their utilization for carrying purposes, was noted.

Drainage and marsh lands were spoken of with special reference to the Horicon marsh, so near our local markets, as to have special significance as a potential garden spot. The same facts connected with the irrigation systems of the country. This meeting will be held with Mrs. Bassford on South Jackson street, after the program a social hour was enjoyed and the hostesses, Mrs. Loomis and Mrs. Henry Hanson, served light refreshments.

Notice: Circle No. 6 of the C. M. E. church will meet Friday afternoon with Mrs. H. Blackie, 1218 Milton avenue.

PLANS FINISHED FOR SECOND BIG SAMSON TRACTOR UNIT HERE

Bids for the construction of the second and huge unit of the Samson Tractor plant are to be called for immediately. It was learned from officials today. The plans for the building, which will be identical with that now nearing completion, have been finished. The second unit will consist entirely of an engine assembly plant. Motors for two styles of tractors will be put together there, and then moved to unit one, where the complete machine is to be assembled.

Actual building operations will be started about April 1, and it is expected that the entire structure can be finished in sixty days, ready for installation of machinery and commencement of active operations. This means that by June 1 the tractor company will have a floor space of over 200,000 square feet, being used to manufacture a single piece of farm machinery, exclusive of a large number of offices and display rooms.

Until the second unit can be completed, the engines for the tractors will be shipped here for completion by the General Motors corporation in other states. They will be installed in the building which is now being finished.

Each of the first two units of the plant will be 500 feet long and 200 feet wide.

ETHEL STREET GUILTY OF GRAND LARCENY

Miss Ethel Street, who was arrested in Rock County on Monday on a charge of grand larceny, was taken before Judge Maxfield in the municipal court yesterday afternoon and entered a plea of guilty to the charge. She was committed to the county jail for 90 days for stealing some thrift stamps while attending a party in Beloit. When her time expired she was retained at the jail and an excellent worker and the jail attaches had about formed the opinion that Ethel was on the straight and narrow path for good. She resigned her position last week and went immediately to a local store to get a coat.

She informed the manager that she was at the home of Sheriff Fred Beier and was given an expensive coat on a partial cash payment.

Her case is most remarkable in some instances where the punishment is for stealing. She paid no heed to the hearing yesterday afternoon and as grand larceny is a misdemeanor of the first degree, she was sentenced to a year in the state prison.

Mechanic Who Served 18 Months Overseas Will Reside Here

G. Wilbur Harmon, Canton, Ill., who has just returned from 18 months' service overseas, will become a resident of Janesville in a few days, according to L. W. Parkin, who received a letter from him today.

Harmon is an expert mechanic, and will be employed at the Samson Tractor plant. While serving in the army, he had charge of a group of 12 mechanics. He spent three months in the front line trenches, but escaped being wounded.

Members' Council Luncheon at Grand Hotel Monday Noon

The bi-weekly luncheon of the members of the Chamber of Commerce will be held Monday at the Grand hotel, it was announced today. The speaker has not been chosen. At last week's luncheon in the hotel, the members were addressed by Craig, manager of the Samson Tractor company.

Army Officer to Become "Y" Secretary in Columbia County

Becoming so interested in the work of the C. A. Y. while he was stationed in an artillery unit at Camp Custer for several months, Lieutenant Erdanson, a Michigan youth, plans to enter the service of the county as secretary at Columbia county.

Lieut. Erdanson was in the city yesterday in conference with Secretary Bearmore.

ARCHIE C. WOODMAN SPENDS XMAS ON RHINE

Archie C. Woodman, son of Mrs. C. B. Woodman of the town of La Prairie, spent Christmas in Nieder, Mondig, a German city near the Rhine, according to word just received from him. His Christmas dinner consisted of potatoes, beef, tomatoes, bread and butter and coffee. Previous to his arrival in Nieder Mondig he was stationed in Coblenz, Germany.

Archie stated that he is well and had tramped about 275 miles in but a few weeks.

CITY ATTORNEY PREPARES BRIDGE BOND ORDINANCE

City Attorney Roger G. Cunningham is preparing the $6,000 Jackson street bridge bond ordinance and expects to have it completed tomorrow. It will probably be acted on by the council at its next meeting.

CAPTAINS RAU AND PELTON IN HOSPITAL AT FORT SHERIDAN

Two Janesville young men, Fred Rau and Harold Pelton, first and second lieutenants, respectively, of old Company M of the Wisconsin National Guards are in the army hospital at Fort Sheridan rapidly recovering from wounds received in action in France.

Both of the young men have been pals through the war and although not fighting with the same commands while in France they saw each other often. Now they are captains. Each has been promoted and when they again return to Janesville each will wear two silver bars.

Captain Fred Rau has received a commission on one of the regular army and will remain in the army. He was wounded twice and is receiving treatments at Fort Sheridan.

Captain Harold Pelton, one of the youngest captains in the United States army, was severely wounded in the leg during the terrible fighting around Soissons and recently arrived in the states. He is unable to walk and although he has a bullet in his chest, he wears the same big smile and has the same cheerful word for all.

With Captains Rau and Pelton in the hospital at Fort Sheridan and Captain Pelton in the hospital at France, the entire staff of officers of the Janesville company of the National Guards were wounded while in France.

Sec'y Bearmore Talks With Aviator Who Was Victim of Hun Surgery

Secretary C. R. Bearmore in his recent visit in Chicago talked with Lieut. Heinrichs of Oak Park, Ill., American aviator who saw several months' service in France and who had a thrilling experience which he had when his plane was shot down and he landed behind the German lines. He was taken into a hospital and "German surgeons" to make him unfit for future service sewed up his cheek and his right arm broken at the elbow. He was taken into a hospital and "German surgeons" to make him unfit for future service sewed up his cheek and his right arm broken at the elbow.

Lieut. Heinrichs is to have an operation at the Adams school in a few days which will give him the use of his arm and his mouth. A silver ball and socket joint will be inserted in his arm.

FIRE DEPARTMENT TO ADAMS SCHOOL

For the second time in a little over a week the fire department was called to the Adams school at 2:05 o'clock this afternoon. Crossed wires resulted in a blaze, starting in the basement. The entire department was hurried run to the school and the men, with the use of chemicals, quickly extinguished the flames. The damage was reported to be nominal.

Tales of the Friendly Forest

Old Professor Crow, with his little Black Book,
Sat on a tree in a quiet shady nook,
And turned to page number one, two,
Three, four, five, six, seven, eight, nine,
And cawed three times, and then he said, said he:

"If you only stop and listen while I read my little book You'll find the dictionary you'll never have to look;
So give especial heed while my little book I read,
And stop your splashing pebbles in the little Babbling Brook."

And then Billy Bunny sat down on a log and read his little pink book in this way and that until the old crow professor said: "Stop!
Stop! You make me dizzy."
And then a little Garter Snake crawled out of his house and stuck his tongue out.

"Gracious me!" cawed the crow professor. "Worse and worse!" And then he turned over to page 23, and after that he began to smile.

"I'm not sticking my tongue out at you," said the little Garter Snake.

"I know that," said Professor Crow, and he took off his spectacles and wiped them on a leaf, and then he read aloud:
"A snake uses his tongue in the same way that an animal uses his ears. His tongue is very sensitive and can feel things in the air as well as taste food. He carries his tongue out of his mouth, and with his tongue, he feels the air."
"That's right," cried the little Garter Snake. "If I kept my tongue in my mouth all the time I'd never hear anything."

"Ha, ha," laughed Billy Bunny.
"I've got ears and a nose, but I use my nose as well to scent danger. I can smell danger sometimes before I can hear it coming." And then the little rabbit giggled his nose three times and a half to find out if Daddy
Fox was near, or maybe Old Man
Weasel. But they weren't, for Willie Weasel would have carried their smell
to the little bunny, you may be sure,
for he liked Billy Bunny and always warned him of danger.

"What you both say is in my little Black Book," said Prof. Crow. "And lots of other wise things, but I haven't time to read them to you now, and off he flew to his house in the friendly forest."
And after that the little rabbit said good-by to the Garter Snake and hopped away, and by and by he came to a river bank. Mr. Kingfisher had just built a hole in the bank. But the little rabbit didn't go in. No, no, no.
For if he did he would have to go through a tunnel five or six feet long until he came to Mr. Kingfisher's room, where he had his nest made out of sticks, bark, fish bones and grass. It wasn't a very nice sort of a nest, but Mrs. Kingfisher liked it and so did the little Kingfishers.

And just then Billy Bunny was going to knock on the front door he saw Mr. Kingfisher dive head first into the river with a great splash, and after a struggle rise with a silvery perk, wriggling in his great bill. But oh, dear me. That fish wiggled so hard that Mr. Kingfisher was obliged to hit his head against a limb of a tree, and after that the fish became very quiet, and Mr. Kingfisher carried it without any trouble to his nest in the bank. And then without even saying howdydo to Billy Bunny, he went from his tunnel hole to his room to his nest, where he and Mrs.
Kingfisher and his children had a fine supper of fresh fish.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN.

Miss Julia Stinson of New York has been appointed chief nurse of the American Expeditionary Force in France.

Governor and Mrs. Richard I. Manning of South Carolina have seven sons, six of whom are in the service.
There is a Japanese woman's auxiliary of the Red Cross in New York with Mrs. Chonouke Yada as president.

For the first time in the history of Kansas, a woman has been elected to the legislature. Mrs. Minnie J. Grin-stead, Republican, of Seward county.
Lady Harcourt, who helped organize the American Nurses club in London, was an American girl. Miss Mary Ethel Burns, a niece of the late J. P.
Morgan.

Mrs. Louis Boex of Cincinnati has planted a tree on the grounds of her home as a memorial to her son, who lost his life on the Titanic.
In the recent English elections virtually all the women candidates for parliament used "Hang the Kaiser!"
as their slogan.

During the season of 1918 sewing club girls of Massachusetts made and delivered over 13,000 finished pieces
of garments to the Red Cross.
The mending shop of the Atlantic division of the Red Cross in New York has been asked to repair 25,000
garments a week.

FASHIONS FOR PALMY DAYS AT PALM BEACH

Here are some charming outdoor costumes for the sunny south. On the left is a dainty imported blouse of Joffe blue linen. It is entirely hand-made and hand-embroidered in rose shades. Worn with a linen skirt and topped by a large sailor hat of satin it makes a charming costume for morning on the beach.

For the garden party or informal fete the frock in the center is unusually attractive. It is fashioned of white voile with a pink and blue flower design. A soft straw hat with a sloping brim is worn with it. The facing of the hat and the girdle of the frock match. Ever popular ratine is used to fashion the simple walking gown on the right. Insets of white crepe are used in the skirt and buttons and brilliant embroidery form the trimming. A flowered leghorn hat wards off the sun.

Minelander Hero Home.

Rhinelanders—Sergeant Clarence Swadburg, Rhinelanders hero in the Chateau Thierry drive, arrived home from Camp Kearney, Calif., having received his honorable discharge.

Swadburg led the company for three days after his superior had either been killed or wounded.

Baseball President Ill.

La Crosse.—John A. E. Elliott, former president of the Minnesota Wisconsin and the Wisconsin State baseball leagues, is seriously ill in a hospital here following a stroke of paralysis. It is expected that he will recover.

Former Sins McAdoo.

La Crosse.—William Gibbs McAdoo
former director general of railroads
and son-in-law of President Wilson,
was made a defendant in a civil suit
in the circuit court here Monday by J. S. Burroughs, La Crosse county farmer. The plaintiff alleges that he suffered a $12,000 loss when farm buildings and contents burned last fall
as the result of sparks from a Burlington railroad locomotive alighting on one of the stanches.

Billard Chimp Defeated.

La Crosse.—Charles R. Schweitzer, formerly a strong contender for state championship honors at Billkline billard met defeat here Monday at the hands of Frank R. Schwabe, Jr., a practically unknown in billard circles
but a star at the transshipping game in the northwest. Schweitzer was in poor form. Billiards is becoming the fad of the winter game of the city again, the La Crosse club's annual tournament attracting a large field of players.

Golf Fans Active.

La Crosse.—La Crosse Country club
golfers have abandoned all plans to go to Palm Beach or Alton for winter playing. With the mercury up around the 55 notch on Sunday a large number of them played several rounds at the links, several turning in mid-scores. The open winter has caused a rushing of the season at the club.

Pastor Is Recovering.

La Crosse.—Rev. Charles C. Rowlin-son, pastor of the Congregational church of this city, is recovering at a local hospital where he had a double gout removed. He collapsed in his pulpit recently while delivering a sermon.

Officer Is Still Alive.

La Crosse.—Officially reported killed in action, Lieut. Melvin Miller of La Crosse on Monday succeeded in getting word to his parents that he is alive and well in Germany with the army of occupation.

All Ready for Bowlers.

Green Bay.—All is in readiness for the 17th annual tournament of the Wisconsin association, which opens here Thursday night. The new alleys laid especially for the tournament have been inspected and approved by the committee.

Woman Confined For Fraud.

Sheboygan.—Mrs. Lena Ogan, who lives on a farm southwest of Shebo-yan Falls, is confined in the county jail pending a hearing upon complaint entered by Theodore Klumpke,
a former member of the county board,
for defrauding him out of $1,300.00.
Mrs. Ogan denies the charge. The woman has been searched twice by matrons at the county jail in an effort to locate the money, but so far no trace of any money has been found.

City May Sell Milk.

Sheboygan.—The city of Sheboygan
may have a number of milk depots
the investigation now being made by the committee appointed by the mayor who recommends it. This special investigation is made following the report submitted to the common council by Frank Ira, poor master, who suggested that something should be done to correct the exorbitant prices
and other evils attending the milk distribution among the poor in the city.

Urges Discharge of Women.

Sheboygan.—The community labor board of this city has adopted a resolution declaring it the patriotic duty of employers to dispense with the services of all women employed during the war in industry to replace men.
This action is necessary, according to the resolution because of an existing surplus of labor.

Soldier Surprises Parents.

Neenah.—When Private Gus Timm
arrived home from overseas service, he completely surprised his folks, who did not even know that he was in the United States.

TWO MEN HELD IN CELLS FOR GIVING LIQUOR TO SOLDIERS

Two of a kind never beat a full house and it didn't last evening. Ben Dixon and Jack "Snowball" Altmann figured they could outguess the police department and give all the liquor
they desired to men in khaki.

Both were caught in the act of giving beverage to soldiers and this morning
they are reposing in cells at the city hall pending the arrival of federal officers from Madison.

"Snowball" Altmann has kept out of the limelight for several months.
Where he has been no one knows and the police stated that they cared little.
He showed up in Janesville a few days ago and since that time he has been under the careful eye of the police.

Ben Dixon, his pal, has been around here all winter and on two different occasions has been arrested. Neither of the men have anything but a police record in the town and the soldiers readily gave affidavits that the booze
was given to them by the two men.
Word was sent to Madison and Chief Champion was informed that an officer would be sent to Janesville as soon as possible after the men.

Credit System of Chamber of Commerce Aid to Merchants

The credit system being operated for the benefit of Janesville merchants
by L. W. Parkin, assistant secretary of the Chamber of Commerce is becoming more and more popular. Mr.
Parkin states that several queries about the credit of new residents were received yesterday and that the number from week to week is growing larger.

The credit system keeps all merchants desiring to take advantage of the service informed of the reliability of residents here. The cost is prorated among those using it, and covers only the actual expense of operation.

The National W. C. T. U. has sent conference at Versailles, to carry important messages which the national organization may decide to give that body.

The delegates are Miss Anna Gordon,

ident; and Mrs. L. D. Yeat.

land. She is a great favorite with

High School News

Herbert Allen was on the witness stand yesterday morning, appearing as the defense's star witness. Mr. Allen testified that on the night of the crime, of which Mr. Roy is accused,
he was in his company the entire evening and that it was impossible for Mr. Roy to have started the fire. The prosecution subjected him to a severe cross examination and he testified completely muddled his evidence in today's hearing. Judge Bassford stated this morning that the case will have to be finished and be ready to go before the jury by Friday of this week, so that the case will be hurried up considerably.

Then tentative examination schedule for the semester exam was announced today by Principal Bassford.
The tests have been so arranged so as to have the major portion come on the first days of the week. In some cases, where there are conflicts, the exams will be carried over to Thursday.

Yesterday was "fussers" day at the high school. Several of the schools most beautiful girls called on several of the schools most bashful boys and proceeded to "fuss" them, much to the bashful boys' discomfort.

High school girls are taking an active interest in basketball and are actively playing scheduled games under the supervision of Miss Callan, girls' physical director. They are divided into teams according to classes, so that fast games result.

Two teams are being rounded up by Coach Crabtree to play the curtain raiser contest Friday evening to the Oregon-Janesville game. Several men who have been out with the first squad will doubtless be in suits, while it is planned to secure several of the players who starred in the inter-class basketball games held recently.

How Egyptians Reaped Grain.

The ancient Egyptians reaped their grain close to the ear and afterward cut the straw close to the ground and laid it by. It was this straw that Pharoah refused to give to the Israelites.
It was because of this refusal to give the longer straw to the Israelites that they were compelled to gather "stubble."
This was a matter of considerable difficulty, seeing that the straw itself had been cut off near to the ground.

New Dieting Advice.

An anxious young theological student once asked Henry Ward Beecher
what was the best and most successful method of preparing for a lecture or sermon. The reply shot back in one sentence, "Just fill yourself chock full of your subject and then let nature capar!" And the best general advice for hygienic dieting runs along similar lines; just spread a liberal table and then let your appetite capar—Exchange.

Islands Made for Silence.

Iona is the most fertile and beautiful of the Hebrides of which there are some 500 scattered about the waters
to the west of Scotland; an exchange states. Only about 100 of these islands are inhabited at all, and the greater part of those latter support less than a dozen people each. It is a region of rain and mist, with rare clear days that are like the infrequent laugh of a sad but kindly nature-god.
The atmosphere of the archipelago is made for dreams and silence. It seems out of the modern world.

Evansville News

Evansville, Jan. 30.—John Smith
died at his home on North Madison street the first of the week, following a brief illness. Mrs. Smith died last week, and her husband followed within but a few days of her interment.
This leaves seven children fatherless
and motherless.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs.
Charles Boedie who reside on the Miller farm near Cooksville was brought to Evansville for burial the first of the week. Mr. Boedie's mother died last week and loving sympathy is extended to them in their double bereavement.

Miss Cora Harris leaves tomorrow
on official visits to W. R. C. lodges in the Fox River valley. She will visit Appleton, Kaukauna, Green Bay,
Oshkosh and from there to the Soldiers
Home at Waupaca. On February 10, 11, 12, she will be in Chicago where she will attend the Peace convention, having been appointed as delegate
from this district.

Mrs. Edwin Shaw is sick.
The Misses Alice and Charlotte Colony spent Wednesday with their brothers who are attending the U. W. convention at Milwaukee. Mrs. Samuel Miller who has been ill with pneumonia at her home on South First Street, is improving. Her many friends are glad to learn of her improvement.

Ralph Smith was a Janesville visitor Tuesday.

Robert Baldwin has been ill for the past few days at his home on Main street.

Miss Julia Rolfe returned to Milwaukee this morning after a brief stay with relatives.

Charles Blackmun and Ray Carpenter motored to Janesville yesterday.

Lloyd Rainard of Janesville spent the week end with his parents here.

Arthur Devine is still confined to his home by illness, but is improving.

Stuart Day has been released from navy duty at the Great Lakes naval station and arrived in Evansville yesterday.

John Colony has returned from France where he was sent as a Y. M.
C. A. Field Secretary, and is the guest of Evansville relatives.

Erwin Shaw is able to be about again after his recent illness.

Mrs. Burr Tolles, phone 344 private

and Sir John A. Simon, Great Britain.

The committee appointed at the peace conference to report on proposed regulation of ports, waterways and railroads, has a serious responsibility. Switzerland and other inland countries are asking freedom of the Rhine, Rhone and other waterways, and access to great ports. These rights, they realize, are necessary to their commercial life. The railroad problem of these nations is also a vital one.
The peace conference hopes to render justice on these problems for the smaller nations. The committee consists of eight members.
Besides the men shown above,
the members are Andre Vois and Albert Clavelle, France; Signor
Grespi and Signor De Martino,
Italy; and M. Yamakawa, Japan.

A WOMAN'S BUSINESS

BY ZOE BECKLEY

WOMAN'S CASE AGAINST MEN.

Janet did not tell her husband of her illuminating adventure with Roy Nicoll. That is, she did not tell him the "illuminating" part of it. She kept the strange conversation that followed. She merely told him that she had gone on a short motor ride with Nicoll the night before. As the advertising man's dinner was late, she was in a sympathetic mood, hugged him and said: "Well, I guess I can trust my girl to do the right thing."

"I wonder what is the right thing," Janet spoke the question hardly knowing she had done so. She had thought so constantly about the things Roy Nicoll had said in extension of his rudeness that she longed to continue to hear. And when she found it possible the reason for the never-ending sex warfare, Roy Nicoll had said "man's case against woman" and brought some excellent arguments to bear. Janet felt that woman's case against man is entitled to quite as much consideration.

"The right thing, Jan," Walt was saying, "is up to a woman's own conscience. I confess, dear, I used to look rather askance to your tagging out so often with that Nicoll chap. But I've been thinking it over, and you like to know of course you do, what woman doesn't love motoring and the pleasant times a fellow with loads of money can offer her?—I think I can be big enough to trust you."

"Why do you say trust me, Walt?" Walter looked at his wife in puzzlement.

"Why, because it's up to you. A woman can always fix the status of her relation to a man. You get from a man exactly what you make signals for. You can show him usual respect without speaking a single word, whether you want him to flirt with you, fall in love with you, reverence you or treat you merely as an equal."

"Walt, do you honestly think it's all up to the woman?" "Sure, I do," said Walt briskly. "Ask my fellow. Any man who has thought it out at all in this respect is the honest with you will tell you he takes his keynote absolutely from the woman."

Janet was surprised. Here was her husband taking the same view as Roy Nicoll. Here was Walter actually out what Roy prophesied he would. Janet began to feel resentful. She tried to present her case. She felt more sympathetic with Nicoll now that she had her own experience. She tried to take the broader view.

"Well, Walt, I don't think I can agree with you," she said after a pause. "You men misunderstand us. The idea of flirtation and love-making is so superfluous in your minds that you take it for granted it is in ours, too."

"It is sometimes, of course. Lots of us poor women don't know any other way to get along than that by which men will do for them. If a girl has brought up to do anything she's got to marry for a living. And the only way she can marry is by being attractive. She often makes mistakes in trying to be attractive—dresses foolishly, acts foolishly. But it's all done from the instinct of self-preservation."

"It's up to the man," Janet went on earnestly. "To sympathize and try to protect her. He has the greater strength in the first place. He is usually more experienced in the ways of the world than she is. And making a living is comparatively easy for him. He is taught how to do something for himself. Girls, for centuries and centuries, have had to depend on what men gave them or allowed them to do. Men tempt women into all sorts of pleasures, and then exact a price."

"Most men—if I can get in a word edgewise—are only willing to protect and support the women they love," said Walt.

"That's all very well," retorted Janet. "But all women don't find men to love them or men they can love. That's why every girl in the world should be made independent so she can keep herself going until love does come. And even afterward she chooses its because so many girls are inefficient that men get into the habit of treating ALL women with a sort of patronizing contempt."

"Well, what's come over my girl, anyway?" Janet said, settling a loving but puzzled kiss upon his wife's cheek.

"Oh, nothing," said Janet absently, thinking of Roy Nicoll. (To be continued.)

UNDERWEAR

The historic "White Sales" which, like the Christmas bills, always come in January, are not as popular as they once were. Crepe de chine, jersey silk, and washable satins are being offered instead of the snow white things that women used to love, especially when they were starved as stiff as possible.

The starched garment, with its many ruffles and frills, is decidedly out of date, and in the place of this bulky garment which certainly took a great deal of space in the trunks and hand luggage we now have everything made of such soft clinging material that a small steamer trunk could carry a bride's whole trousseau.

The prevalence of sleeveless nightgowns is another modern fashion which would have been quite too modest for the days of starched lingerie. The gown pictured is made of the softest crepe de chine in a delicate pink shade. It, of course, is one of the sleeveless type, and has a deep yoke of lace and ribbon.

The lady is holding a dainty camisole, one of those popular French undergarments which almost entirely supplanted the corset cover. It is made of flesh colored washable satin with a wide band of lace at the top. The camisole is the easiest of all things to make, and this in one way accounts for its popularity, for given a bit of silk, lace and an elastic the camisole can be made in a short time. It is never necessary to fit it.

The soft slinky negligees which can be rolled up into a small bundle and slipped into a corner of the overnight bag are another modern garment which is infinitely better than the old kind. The one pictured at the right is a stunning robe of gray silk jersey and purple satin fastened together. It is very narrow at the hem and built somewhat on Japanese lines.

LUNCHEON DISHES.

Oyster Ravioli—Take one pound of good meat American cheese and cut into small pieces or chop it in a wooden bowl. Heat a sauce pan and melt a small lump of butter and a dash of salt. Pour in the cheese and stir till beginning to melt. Add then two or perhaps a little more tablespoons of milk and mix steadily till smooth. At the last minute stir in one whole egg mixed with one of beaten eggs. Pour the mixture into a pan of mixed mustard and some Cayenne. Cook a half a pint of oysters in their own juice for three minutes, skimming carefully. Add the oysters, simmer for a minute together and serve on strips of toast.

Luncheon Salad—Four cold boiled chicken breasts, one cup of finely cut cold boiled carrot, one cup finely cut cold boiled onion, one cup salad dressing, two tablespoons chopped parsley, four tablespoons mayonnaise, one carrot, three cups shredded lettuce or finely cut cabbage.

Mix potatoes, celery, onion, boiled carrots, salt and half the dressing. Line shallow dish with lettuce or cabbage and pile the mixed salad in center. Cover with remainder of salad dressing. Sprinkle with parsley and grated raw carrot and dust with mayonnaise. Grate carrot on coarse grater, the downward stroke only.

Baked Bean Loaf—Mash well three cups baked beans, add one and one-half teaspoons celery salt, one onion chopped fine, two cups fine dry bread crumbs, two beaten eggs and one-quarter cup milk.

Mix well, pack in a buttered loaf tin, pour over one cup of finely cut cold boiled carrot, one cup finely cut cold boiled onion, one cup salad dressing, two tablespoons chopped parsley, four tablespoons mayonnaise, one carrot, three cups shredded lettuce or finely cut cabbage.

Pinapple Omelet—Sweet omelets are pleasant now and then and an light occasion. For this one take four eggs, a good tablespoon of oil, a pinch of salt and a dash of black pepper. Beat well, the whites, the yolks and the butter melted. Add the ingredients. If you wish add for each egg, a tablespoon of milk. If you wish, increase the quantity. Pour into the buttered omelet pan or regular skillet and fold when done with a filling of shredded pineapple.

RENOVATE BLACK SILK.
To improve shabby black silk, sponge it with stale beer; sponge on both sides and roll up firmly into a cloth.

Leave for about an hour, or until it is just damp, then press with a moderately hot iron on the poor side of the silk, having something thick and soft under it. Your silk will look very nice and not be too stiff.

THE FINISHED BOOK.

This morning as I went about my regular work I was conscious of a queer, empty feeling.

At first I could not think what it meant, and then all at once I knew. I had been reading a very interesting book during the last few days. And yesterday a sad thing (sad from my point of view, I mean) had happened to that book; I had finished it.

No use today to hurry through my work in order to have time before tea to throw myself on the couch in the sun and spend a blissful half hour with my friends of the printed page.

No Dribble of a Few Minutes Extra With the Books.

No guerdon of extra sessions with that book have I to offer myself today to persuade myself to do some specially dreaded task.

No pleasant, background for any routine work, or wonderings as to whether the heroine will marry the rich elderly lover or the poor and talented young man, or wonderings made agreeable by the comforting knowledge that however ominous things may look at the time, they are pleasantly sure to turn out as they should.

No right, happy in their very poignancy and in the deferred enjoyments which they connote, when I have to temporarily lay the book down.

Hard for me to start another book, but there is some subtle inhibition in me that always makes it difficult for me to start one.

It is an inhibition I greatly regret for I think one should almost have a book on hand because it makes life so much richer. Short stories, to be sure, are enjoyable. No one admires the art of the short story writer more than I do. A perfectly written short story, like a perfect lyric, is a poignant work of art, an achievement before which I stand in wonder and admiration. But the short story does not give me the sense of reality and acquaintance that the novel does. I admire and enjoy the short story.

I live in the novel. It gives me a double life. Some of the people I have met in novels mean almost as much to me as real friends. I have actually felt lonesome when I closed a book and realized that I could not know any more about those people. And often I had the odd sensation of remembering something I thought a friend had said and finding out, when I searched for the personality to link with the speech, that it was someone I had never known who had spoken it. But no less a friend for that.

Suppose There Were No Books?

How thankful we should be for this strange twist in our brains that makes us all wish and yearn to enter into the kingdom of the book and find therein so much happiness, so much succor from the disappointments and anxieties and sorrows of reality!

Heart and Home Problems

BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON
LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young girl, 19 years old, and have been going with any other fellows and a few other little remarks he has made make me believe he is jealous of me.

We have always got along very nicely until I met another young man at a dance one evening and he had a couple of dances with me. That made my friend jealous. After that whenever I met this other young man at a dance he always had a few dances with me, of which my friend did not approve. He said he just did it to make him jealous. So he started dancing with a girl that he knew did not care for him, but he just did it to make me jealous, which was not the case with me.

Kindly advise me if it would be proper for me to stop dancing with my new acquaintance to suit my own friend?

If you think that your new acquaintance is dancing with you to make your other friend jealous, do not dance with him. But in case he is dancing with you because he enjoys you and your dancing, which is probably true, you should not have to give him up. Talk to your old friend and tell him that you are not doing it to make him jealous and that he has no reason to be jealous. If he is at all big-minded he will not ask you to give up dancing with the other boy.

You are too young to go exclusively with one boy and so I think you should do whatever you want to in this matter. If you dance with the new acquaintance there is a chance of course that your old friend will give you up. One who would do anything petty, however, would not prove a good friend.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been keeping company with a young man for almost a year. I think he returns the love I give him. In fact he told me I was the only girl he cared for. Although I have heard him speak of other girls, I know for a positive fact that he does not go with any of them. Still I am very jealous of him because I know a couple of girls who are just as much in love with him as I am. He told me he only cared for them as acquaintances.

He made me promise I would not go with any other fellows and a few other little remarks he has made make me believe he is jealous of me. Then at times he acts so queer he makes me feel as though he does not care for me. I feel like telling him I do not care to see him again, but I love him so much I cannot bear to lose him.

What shall I do? I am very much grieved and puzzled over him. I am 19 and so is he. MARY ELLEN.

You worry too much about the boy's attitude toward you. You may be sure that he loves you, or he would not go with you exclusively. Hold the thought that he is really as much afraid of losing you as you are him. When he acts queer attribute it to his mood and ego. Young men are always giving girls heartaches, while older men are more steadfast and reasonable.

The very fact that the other girls love him would keep him from caring for them. Never say unpleasant things about them to him or give him reason to know that you are jealous.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I go with a fellow to whom I am engaged and I am sure he loves me, but sometimes I wonder if he respects me. I do not want his love if I cannot have his respect too. Is there any way I can test him to find out without his knowing I am doing so?

INDIAN TRAIL.
If you are at all analytical you should be able to judge how much the man respects you by the nature of his conversation and his treatment of you. Has he introduced you to his family and his friends? Since he loves you there is little chance that he does not respect you.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Will you kindly inform me if there is any oil, with the exception of olive oil, that may be taken to produce flesh? I am generally well, but very thin.

ANXIOUS.
There are other oils which produce flesh, but to most people they are not so agreeable to the taste. Ask your physician or druggist to recommend a substitute.

HE GOT HIS CHANCE.

Colonel Harta Deantem found it a hard matter to but into the interesting conversation that was going on among the members of the Necks to Nature Club, and in which he was not included.

And he had a story to tell. Something must be done! So the Colonel ordered a drink.

"Bilki wogl jurglil ghini!" he said, smiling at the mystified waiter. Instantly the room was hushed.

At last, thought the members joyfully, at last they had a good excuse for chucking out the vociferous Colonel. He had gone dippy!

Then the Colonel seemed to notice the question marks flying out of everybody's eyes, so he recollected himself seemingly, and said: "Oh, pardon me, waitah. I thought that my dog Jullituk was around, bah Jove!"

"You see, gentlemen, er—speaking of dogs; when I was visiting the island of Iceland some years ago, he gave me my choice of either ten black wives or a large black dog. I took the black dog, which was a pure bred spug-bond. Why, say, that dog was so intelligent that my wife and I had to learn to speak Icelandic tongue to keep it from understanding everything we said. Don't you know, I started speaking Icelandic. I thought—"

Then the Colonel stopped his interesting and truthful narrative, as there was nobody around but the waiter. So he ordered his drink in English, drank it in Scotch and took French leave.

YOUNG LADIES WILL GIVE DANCING PARTY

Invitations have been issued by the young ladies of St. Mary's church for a dancing party to be held at the church hall on Friday evening, February 7th. The young ladies are rapidly completing arrangements, and are making every effort to make it one of the prettiest events of the dancing season.

The chaperons are Mr. and Mrs. William Dougherty, Mr. and Mrs. Dr. Thureman and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Green. The committee in charge of the dance is composed of the following young ladies: Ruth Mulligan, Kathryn Olsen, Anna McBride, Hazel Gower, Rose Boos, and Constance Cunningham.

HEALTH TALKS

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO DR. BRADY, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE.

RELAPSE AND RECURRENCE OF INFLUENZA.

Influenza seems to confer little or no acquired immunity upon one who has had the disease and recovered from the attack. In this respect it differs from most infectious diseases, for, as every one knows, when a patient recovers from typhoid fever or diphtheria or measles he is not likely to have another attack of the same disease nearly so likely as a non-immune person is to develop the disease.

And yet a number of physicians who have made considerable use of the influenza vaccine in the treatment of influenza and for the purpose of immunizing persons who have been or are likely to be exposed to the infection, find that the bacteria in a very effective preventive and also a valuable remedy for influenza.

Unfortunately there has been no unanimity in the choice of bacteria. One physician is content to use a ready-made or stock bacterin of the shotgun type—a bacterin containing not only killed influenza bacilli but also two or three other germs which may or may not be concerned in causing the disease, all the germs killed, of course. He reports glowing results. Another physician uses only killed influenza bacilli. He reports different results. Still another uses a third variety of bacterin. And he gets the same happy results. When all begin to question the reliability of these glowing reports. We have been victimized so often, in medical life, by medical enthusiasts whose discoveries seem so spectacular at first and who later out so encouragingly on more sober investigation.

TRAIN YOUR HAIR AS AN ACTRESS DOES

No class of people devotes as much time to beauty as do actresses, and no class must be more careful to retain and develop their charms. Inquiry develops the information that in hair care they find it dangerous to shampoo with any makeshift hair cleanser. The majority say that to keep the best hair wash and scalp stimulator at hand costs about three cents, one need only get a package of canthox from your druggist; dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water and use your shampoo is ready. This makes enough shampoo liquid to apply to all the hair instead of just the top of the head. After its use the hair dries rapidly, with uniform color. Dandruff, itching and dandruff are quickly dissolved and entirely disappear when you rinse the hair. After this your hair will be so fluffy it will look much heavier than it is. Its luster and softness will delight you, while the stimulated scalp gains the health which insures hair growth. Advertisement.

The Quick Way to Stop a Cough

This home-made syrup does the work in a hurry. Easily prepared, and saves about $2.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough is a remedy which is easily prepared at home. It is very simple. It's cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, too—children like it—and it is pure and good.

Four 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. One ounce of molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make a full pint—a family supply—but cost only a few cents. A small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It is just right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly clears the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soothes your coughs entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, whooping cough and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of purest pineapples, and for its healing effect on the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex," with directions, and don't get anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded.

A Guide to GOOD MANNERS

by Janice

No matter how many well-dressed men or women rest their elbows upon the table while a meal is in progress it is still considered familiar and ungraceful and ill-mannered by most people. When not actively engaged in eating, the hands should lie quietly in the lap.

Other little niceties which should be observed at table are these:

Bread should be broken in small pieces and then spread a piece at a time when ready to eat. A spoon should be eaten with a large spoon and dipped up with an upward motion and then the liquid should be imbibed from the side, not the end of the spoon.

A soup plate, or any other plate in fact, should never be tilted for the last spoonful.

TIPPECANOE

Being a True Chronicle of Certain Passages Between DAVID LARRENCE and ANTOINETTE O'BANNON of the Battle of Tippecanoe in the Indiana Wilderness, and of What Befell Thereafter in Old Corydon and now first set forth By SAMUEL MCCOY

Illustrations by De Alton Valentine.

"Everything. It is because I love you that I have come to you now. I told me once that I could not hope ever to win you. I tried to turn you against the man I feared. But I know now that my love for you is stronger than mere desire. I want you to be happy, even though I suffer. And so I have come to tell you first of all. No one here knows that Lawrence is in England's service. Let it be known, and his life is forfeited. I have come to give you the greatest gift that is in my power. I give you the life of this man. Warn him, and there is yet time for him to escape. I shall be happy if you are happy. Only remember that I loved you, Toinette!"

The halting sentences seemed to come from the depths of his soul. He finished and stood before her humbly, his head bowed.

"God bless you," she said very softly.

She spilled the precious ointment of her innocent faith in his words upon the dross of his heart. He raised his head and thanked her mutely, while his pulses leaped with exultation. She had believed him! But would she warn Lawrence? He scarcely dared to hope as he whispered:

"If you will warn him at midnight my mare will be at his door, ready to ride."

But the girl answered in a voice that seemed to come from beyond the grave, so full of a soul's agony it was:

"There will be no need. I shall give him up. Oh, David, David, David!"

He turned to hide the mocking smile that lighted up his face.

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work.

People afflicted with bad breath and quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, gripping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without gripping, pain or any disagreeable effects. Dr. F. M. BAD BRONCHIAL COUGH FOR 36 YEARS

Mrs. Bice finally found how to stop it, without changing climate.

"I had suffered with bronchitis for 36 years. When I was two years old I had the whooping cough and it left me in an awful state ever since. I have taken hundreds of dollars worth of medicine, with but little relief. I had to sit up in bed all night and cough, getting up strings of phlegm and choking until my eyes nearly burst out of their sockets. I am poor and could not afford to change climate."

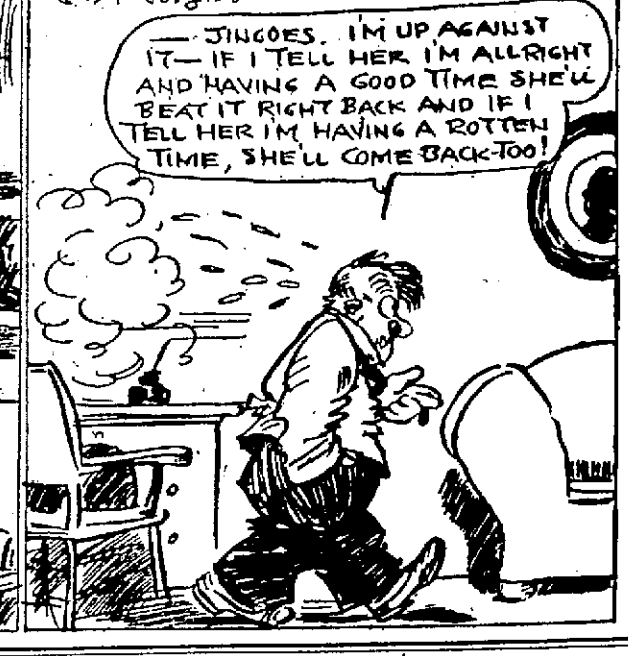

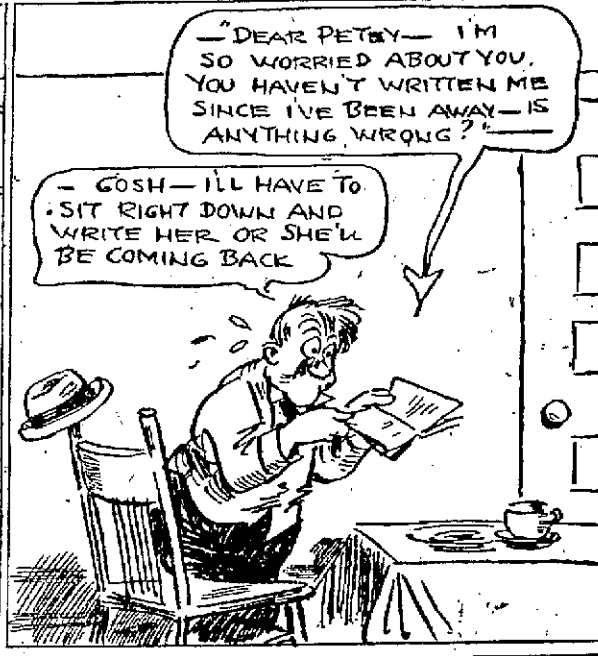

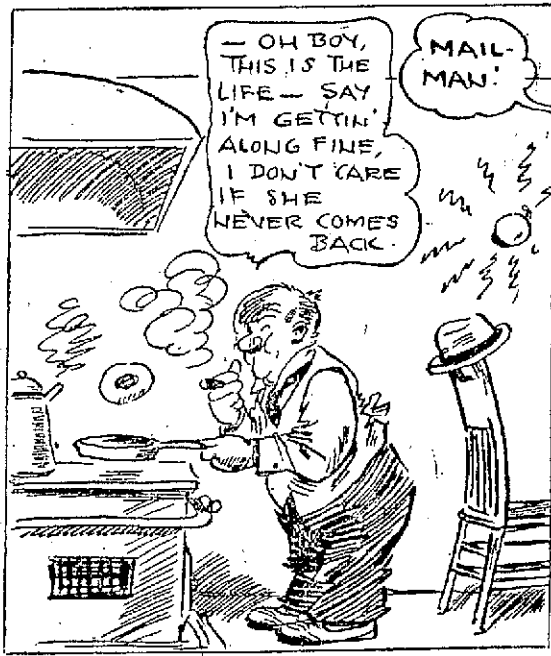

"Finally my husband urged me to try Milks Emulsion, saying if it didn't help me I could get my money back. I tried it and have continued its use until now my bronchial tubes are free and clear and I can breathe with ease. When you think that I had this dreaded disease all my life, you can see why I want everybody to try Milks Emulsion."

"Mrs. Anna Bice, 1451 Wendell St., Columbus, Ohio. Sprays and gargles and local remedies do not touch a cough of this kind. The trouble is deep-seated. The only remedy that must be strengthened and built up to throw it off. The same thing is true of a bad cold."

Milks Emulsion is a pleasant, nutritive food and a corrective medicine. It restores healthy, natural bowel action, doing away with all need of pills and physics. It promotes appetite and physically puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food. A bad cold of flesh and strength. Milks Emulsion is strongly recommended to run-down nervous people and it has produced amazing results in many cases of asthma, chronic bronchitis and tuberculosis of the lungs. Chronic stomach trouble and constipation are promptly relieved—usually in one day."

This is the only solid emulsion, made, and so palatable that it is eaten with a spoon like low cream. A truly wonderful medicine for weak, sickly children. No matter how severe your case, you are urged to try Milks Emulsion under this guarantee—take six bottles home with you, use it according to directions and if not satisfied with the results, your money will be promptly refunded. Price 60c and $1.20 per bottle. The Milks Emulsion Co., Terre Haute, Ind. Sold and guaranteed by J. F. Baker.

PETEY DINK—PETEY'S CONSCIENCE MUST HAVE HURT HIM.

The girl's face had grown pale as the white rose she held in her hand. But she forced herself to go on—unhesitatingly, but in a voice from which all life had fled, so weighted with unutterable anguish it was:

"You had better inform Judge Boone at once."

"You don't understand, Toinette. I shall not raise a finger against Lawrence. He shall never say I am responsible for his exposure. You alone in Corydon know his secret. It is for you to decide."

"Go," she said quietly, "I will do my duty."

"Have I done mine, Toinette? Do you forgive me?"

"Yes, you have done well," she answered mechanically.

"I may see you again? Oh, Toinette, let me still hope!"

"I cannot answer now. But—" her throat seemed to choke her and she was unable to finish. But through the young doctor's mind there flashed the belief that he would yet make her his. She would forget Lawrence—only let time heal the wound! He raised her hand to his lips, flung himself upon the red mare and was gone.

To Toinette the next minutes were an unreal procession in which a girl named Antoinette O'Bannon moved strangely upon her task, dry-eyed, steadily-voiced. She saw this girl go down the lane to the tavern, where like Blackford sat deep in a book of law; heard her ask him to go with her to David's store; saw him bow with unquestioning courtesy; saw them cross the courthouse square and enter the little storeroom, just then empty of customers; saw David advance toward them gravely, with the proud dignity he had worn since the day she and refused his love. She heard a voice speaking—was it her own?

The two young men looked at the girl in silent wonder. She swept on as the cold torrent of her resolution, shaking their unspoken question with uplifted hand:

"We have known you but a little while, Mr. Lawrence. You have made room among us; we have taken you into our friendship. You have promised to become an American; we have trusted you, befriended you, believed in you. And you have repaid it! The coiled snake from which you saved me was less vile! Oh! I do not forget what you did! It is that which makes what you have done all the more terrible. I owe you my life. You might have had it, if you had chosen. But you have chosen instead the lives of all these people in the wilderness—these settlers, these men who have never harmed you, these women, these little children. To betray them, who have only loved you, who have been your friends! To give them into the hands of England and to the knives of the Indians!"

Her voice broke. At her first words Blackford's face had taken on an expression of amazement, which grew deeper and deeper as he listened and glanced from one to the other of his two friends. Now, as her voice faltered, his astonishment broke out:

Slowly He Drew Out the Packet of 'Papers He Had Wreathed From Cranmer.

"Toinette, in heaven's name, what is the matter?"

She answered wearily, listlessly, her voice sinking to a whisper, so that she seemed like an exhausted bird that is scarcely able to skim above the waves of the sea:

"He has been here as a British spy!"

Blackford started, then laughed incredulously.

"Toinette, you're joking!"

But she buried her face in her hands and spoke through sobs that shook her from head to foot.

"Oh, if it were not true! . . . Ask him."

Blackford turned to David. His friend had taken a step backward at Toinette's first rush of reproach and now leaned against the low counter, trembling, pale as one who has received a mortal wound. The shock of her accusation coming on the heels of the very moment when he had asked his life to confront Cranmer, stunned him.

Only his high, indignant pride rose against the sorry riddle—a stubborn pride which bade him listen to her wild charge in silence, holding himself in his angry conceit above the violence of contradicting her, above stooping to drag their love in the dust of quarrel. Blackford, striving to pierce beneath the mask of that white, tense face and the inscrutable eyes, cried out in alarm at David's silent acceptance of her words.

"It's not true, is it, David? My God, it can't be true!"

David was silent.

Blackford tried to laugh off his own alarm:

"You two are playing some silly joke on me, of course. All right—I'll own you guiled me. Satisfied, Toinette?"

Toinette threw back her head proudly. The blue eyes that had so often danced with merriment were blazing sapphires.

"Search him, Mr. Blackford," her voice rang out. "I do not doubt but you will find evidence enough to satisfy you."

Ike's eyes looked into those of his friend with a passion of pleading for denial. But David's voice answered evenly, coldly:

"There is no need to search. I presume that these papers are the ones which Miss O'Bannon wishes."

And with steady fingers he unfurled his coat and waistcoat, and while Blackford gazed in horror, slowly drew out the packet of papers he had wrested from Cranmer. He put them in Ike's hands and bowed to Toinette with a touch of ironic courtesy:

"You will find them all there," he said.

A single glance made Blackford realize their meaning.

"Oh, David, David!" he cried.

A thousand voices, the confused murmur of a mighty throng, seemed ringing in Toinette's brain, and she fought against a sickening giddiness that made the walls whirl around her.

"That is enough, Mr. Blackford!" she asked weakly; and on tottering knees she turned and left the two men alone.

"Surely you can explain this, David!" cried Ike; his faith in his friend clung to him in stubborn defiance of the documents' mute accusation.

"Do you think it necessary to explain?" said David harshly. The anger which he had withheld from Toinette had mounted slowly until now his iron will had reached a white heat of furious resentment. "By God, I explain to no man!"

Ike looked him straight in the eyes. "No man on earth can use that tone to me," he said quietly, "except you, David, old man."

He laid his hand gently on his friend's shoulder and the angry light in David's eyes was suddenly quenched.

"It isn't true," he said, and was silent once again.

"That's the only explanation you and I need, David," Ike answered with a grave smile; and David crushed his hand in a mighty grip.

"Ike, you understand! You believe in me!" he cried in a voice that showed how cruel the strain upon his nervous pride had been; and the two young men smiled straight into each other's eyes.

David had meant to keep his own counsel, but now the burden of his heart flooded over at Ike's trust in him. He told of what he had learned concerning Cranmer; told how he had come into possession of the secret agent's maps and documents. "I had ready sent word to Vincennes to search for Cranmer," he said, "and I meant to take these papers there at the first opportunity. How Toinette guessed that I had them, I cannot understand. But, by heaven, Blackford, I can't explain to her! Don't you, understand? I wanted her love. I thought she had given it to me. But if she doubts me, then—"

His voice faltered again.

"She has worried herself over some rumor—no, Toinette, she's strung to the breaking-point," said Ike gently.

"I want you to do something for me, Ike," replied David, unheeding the excuse. "I cannot stay in Corydon after this. I cannot be indebted to Mr. O'Bannon any longer. I must go."

"You know best, Davy. It's not my business. But where?"

"Vincennes, I suppose. I may as well stay on there, after I have delivered this evidence to General Gibson. It doesn't make any difference. But I want you to see Mr. O'Bannon and turn my accounts over to him. Will you do this for me, Ike?"

"Willingly, Davy. But, oh, I'll hate to give you up!"

"You're the best friend I ever had. So I shall have to lose you, as I have lost everyone I ever loved." David smiled bitterly.

"Davy, don't go! You'll win yet! She can't hold to this silly mistake. Why, I'll explain things to her! Go back, you sore-headed old bear, and—"

But David checked him.

"I shall never enter that house. And I forbid your speaking to her on this subject. Do not speak of her again."

His tone was unyielding, final; and grieving in silent sympathy for his friend's shattered hopes, Ike helped him close up the meager affairs of the little store and bade him good by. . . .

To Ike remained no question of David's honor; but the poison of Elliott's words had found an abiding hold in the girl's heart. Toinette had reached her father's house she knew not how. She gained the harbor of her own chamber, closed the door, and sank upon her bed in a paroxysm of grief. She had saved the frontier from the traitor, she thought; but she had broken her own heart.

David's back was toward Corydon and all his hopes. His face was toward the north. The trace through the forest stretched away toward Vincennes and he marched along, resolutely. There he handed over to the territorial officers the plans that he had taken from Cranmer; had from them their blind thanks, and found employment in the ancient trading house of the Spaniard, Vigo.

the ditch about ten miles out of town and was badly wrecked. He seems inconceivable."

"What is a motor car more or less to a man of Grabco's wealth?"

"A mere trifle. Two quarts of genuine Scotch whiskey were smashed in the accident."

AN ARMY OF FRIENDS

Thousands Who Have Benefitted From Father John's Medicine Recommend Its Value

For more than half a century Father John's Medicine has proved its value as a pure and wholesome body-building tonic. Those who prove its value by using it in their homes always tell others of its merit. This great army of people who use Father John's Medicine is constantly growing in numbers and the medicine has passed on from one generation to another as the standard, safe family medicine to be used when any member of the family becomes weak or run-down or is attacked by a cold or cough. The great food-value of Father John's Medicine makes it especially good for those who are thin, pale and weak. It builds new flesh and strength without using alcohol or dangerous drugs in any form.

Farm Accounts Simplified
—VIA—
The Daily Calendar Route

The easiest, simplest, accounting idea yet devised is a Calendar which gives you an opportunity to enter on the date of the month

you buy or sell or pay out or receive any money, directly on the calendar pad, which totaled at the end of the month gives an exact record of all transactions. Each month is so arranged as to preserve the record throughout the year.

Inasmuch as the government requires an income report, each year it is necessary to keep a complete record of all transactions so that you may be able to intelligently answer the questions on the blank form which the government supplies you with. This calendar was designed for farm use especially and is so unique and complete and so easily handled that you wonder it had not been thought of long before.

The Farm Income Calendar will save more time and trouble than you ever dreamed of, unless you remember the perplexities of making your report last time without the aid of an income record.

The Farm Income Calendar leaves nothing to guess-work. No confusion about it, the entries can be made by anyone and the totaling at the end of the month is easy as can be.

One of these handy calendars, with one coupon clipped here-with, and mailed to you for 10c to cover cost.

Start the year's record at once and be safe.

BRINGING UP FATHER

By George McManus.

Stone Age Theory Disproved.
The means of manufacture at the disposal of savages were so small that archeologists were formerly of opinion that a stone ax must be the product of the efforts not merely of one generation but of several, being handed down from father to son, and taking shape gradually, so that an implement begun by an individual might be finished by his grandchild.

That this idea is pure nonsense was proved by the late J. D. McGuire of the United States bureau of ethnology who, developing a high expertise in such work, made first-class axes in a day or two, chipping them out of hard stone and polishing them by rubbing with sand and water. He even produced sculptures in relief after the pattern of those of ancient Mexico, using no other tools than stone hammers for "pecking" at the rock.

It was the employment of tools, anthropologists, that made man what he is. His brain was educated through the use of his hands.

CARDS NOSE OUT WIN OVER ELGIN FIVE IN HAIR-RAISING FINISH

Local Team Triumphs Over Illinois Bunch 32-12 in Fast Game at The Armory.

After allowing the Elgin club basketball five to single one of the most sensational and thrilling comebacks seen here in many a day, the Lakota Cardinals finally nosed out a 33-32 victory at the armory last night. It was a hair-raising finish that threw a scare into the hearts of local rooters. With the score standing 30 all and but five minutes of play left the Cards took a sudden spurt, Murphy dropping in a field goal and caging a free throw giving the Cards a three-point lead. Adams of the Elgin bunch then dropped in one of his horseshoe baskets for which he is famous and time was called with the Cards on the long end of the score.

Elgin's Comeback.
Resting comfortably on their 12 point lead obtained in the first half when they ran circles around the Watchmakers, the Cards opened the second period at an easy rate, but were soon forced to strain every effort to down the Elgin bunch. After blizzing away at the basket from all angles in the first half, without much success, the invaders came back in the second period and used the same tactics with such decided success that they quickly tide the score. Adams and Ackerman, the lanky center, were the chief offenders dropping in basket after basket from the middle of the floor with a few short ones thrown in for good measure. Phillips went in at right forward for the Illinois bunch early in the second half and he evidently carried three or four horseshoes in his pocket which he passed out to his cohorts. For immediately after his entrance into the fray the Elgin five opened up a terrific bombardment on the basket with great success. They kept the ball in Card territory much of the time.

After displaying the old championship brand of ball in the first half the Cards became over-confident and thought an easy victory was certain but they soon changed their minds. The short passes and great teamwork of the Cards was the feature of the first half. They all seemed to be working together in a championship style and had the watchmakers running in circles. The count at the end of this half stood 24 to 12 with the Lakotas on the long end. The second half went to Elgin by a 20 to 9 score. Played Great Games.

If there were any individual stars for the local aggregation Casserly might be mentioned as putting up the greatest exhibition, but the whole game displayed such great work that credit is due everyone of them. The Madison boy was strong on team play and was a necessary card in the Cards' attack. He hunted three times, remaining holding down a forward position showed great form. He broke into the scoring column three times, besides being in every play all over the floor. The big boy was also strong on the defense breaking up play after play. Murphy and Phillips played spectacular games. The two Beloit stars were strong on baskets. "Phil" dropping in several beautiful ones from the side. "Red" Connel put up a fair exhibit while Tilley who went in for him in the second half displayed the best form he has shown this season.

Adams with nine baskets and Ackerman with four, starred for the invaders. Both shot for the basket every time they got the ball with the result that making of 10 per cent of their shots was sufficient to shoot up their score. Barefoot Adams played with his shoes on an account of the slippery floor.

TIGERS' RECRUIT IS KILLED IN ACTION

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Detroit, Jan. 30.—"Killed in action Nov. 3, 1918."

This message written on the unopened envelope containing a contract for Leonard B. Hollywood, a promising infielder, was the first information Frank C. Navin, president of the Detroit Americans, received concerning the death of the Tiger recruit on the battle fields of France.

Hollywood was purchased from the San Francisco club of the Pacific Coast League in the fall of 1917, and Manager Jennings of the Tigers was counting on giving him a trial this spring.

700 Teams to Compete in National Bowling Tournament at Toledo, O.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Detroit, Jan. 30.—"Killed in action" teams is the goal set by the officials of the Toledo Bowling Association for the American Bowling Congress tournament to be held here three weeks beginning March 8. More than two hundred Toledo teams will be entered and these will have the first five days of the tournament. A. J. Langtry of Milwaukee, secretary of the A. B. C., said that entries are coming in from all parts of the country.

THE DOT DRAWING CLASS

"The next letter in the alphabet," said the Dot Drawing teacher, "is B, and it always struck me that it was rather a funny letter, sort of fat and important. You've heard of the busy bee of course but I can't think that the alphabetical B is busy. I think he is kind of bolsterous and fond of 'haccy.' Now, what do you think this B is doing?"
"I'm not right sure," said Adolphus, "but if he isn't busy I think that he is probably rolling out for a ————"

PRINCE ALBERT

YOU can't help cutting loose joyous remarks every time you flush your smokespot with Prince Albert—it hits you so fair and square. It's a scuttle full of jimmy pipe and cigarette makin's sunshine and as satisfying as it is delightful every hour of the twenty-four!

It's never too late to hop into the Prince Albert pleasure-pasture! For, P. A. is trigger-ready to give you more tobacco fun than you ever had in your smokecareer. That's because it has the quality.

Quick as you know Prince Albert you'll write it down that P. A. did not bite your tongue or parch your throat. And, it never will! For, our exclusive patented process cuts out bite and parch. Try it for what ails your tongue!

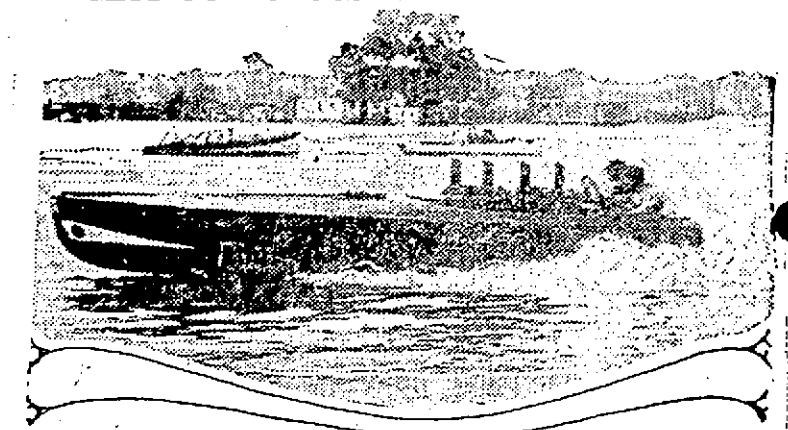

Toppy red bags, tidy red tins, handsome pound and half pound tin humidors—and that clever, practical pound crystal glass humidior with sponge moistener—that keeps the tobacco in such perfect condition.

MISS DETROIT III, SPEEDY HYDROPLANE, MAY GO ACROSS THE ATLANTIC TO RACE

Miss Detroit III "hitting her up."

Word from Detroit, Mich., says that Miss Detroit III, the speedy hydroplane, may cross the Atlantic to compete for the International Motor Boat Association trophy in London. Miss Detroit won the gold cup of the American Power Boat Association at Detroit last September. The international event has not been held for four years because of the war. Gar Wood, who handled her last September, probably will pilot her if she enters the meet.

Get 7 Per Cent for YOUR Money

We are selling "across the counter" direct to Milwaukee and Wisconsin people an issue of $3,600,000 of 7%, 5-year, bond-secured Gold Notes of The Milwaukee Electric Railway & Light Company. More than a million dollars' worth of the Notes have been bought in the first 30 days, mostly by Milwaukee people who know the Company and the property.

Issuance and sale of these Notes was authorized by the Wisconsin Railroad Commission to finance the growth of greater Milwaukee's electric service system.

These Notes are on sale in $50, $100, $500 and $1,000 sizes. They sell at par. Your Notes start drawing 7% interest for you from the day you buy them. You draw interest twice a year—May 1 and Nov. 1—by simply cutting off your interest coupon, taking it to the nearest bank, and getting cash for it. These Notes are readily saleable in case of need.

Milwaukee is as solidly prosperous as any city in the world. This Company supplies virtually all of Milwaukee's electric power, light, heat and transportation services. The State-appraised value of the property back of the Notes exceeds funded debt by over $16,000,000. The State rate regulation law assures a reasonable yearly return on State-appraised value. Besides being a general obligation of The Milwaukee Electric Railway & Light Company, these Notes are further secured by deposit of $4,500,000 of 40-year bonds of the Milwaukee Light, Heat & Traction Company with the First Trust Company of Milwaukee as Trustee for the Note buyers. These Companies, thus joint guarantors of these Notes, during their twenty-two years in business have never failed to pay on the due date every dollar of their obligations, with interest as agreed.

Is YOUR MONEY earning 7% with equal SAFETY? If not, we shall be glad to sell you some of these Notes.

Janesville buyers and vicinity are ASKED TO ORDER FROM THE MERCHANTS & SAVINGS BANK OR DIRECT FROM THE COMPANY. Address: SECURITIES DEPARTMENT, Public Service Building, Milwaukee, Wisconsin. You can send payment with order, or, if you wish it, we will deliver the Notes in care of your home bank, C. O. D. The Milwaukee banks have bought hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of these Notes, for themselves and their customers.
